

Highland Creek Meeting House June 10, 1939.
Blue River Quarterly Meeting settled for brief worship at 8:30 p.m.

Chicago is represented by Jeannette Stetson, present. Rachel Oesting, named, is absent.
Clear Creek is represented by Lucretia Franklin, Laura Smith, and Edna Wolf,— all present.

Blue River is represented by Grace Trueblood and Brooks Baynes,— the latter being present.

From a reading of the minutes, it was noted that certain reports are due. The committee to nominate clerks name the present ones. The report is approved.

Treasury
balance

The Treasurer reports receipts for the year of $812.78 and expenditures of $692.00. From the balance of $120.78, the meeting directs the appropriation of $25. for the use of the American Friends Service to meet overhead in the Mid-West office.

Elwood Brooks and Edna Wolf, named to audit the Treasurer's books, find them correct, and they nominate the retention of Clement B. Flitcraft as Treasurer. And there is general approval.

Albert Mills reports that the Meeting's special funds are still unavailable, this incident presumably to the law taking its course in regard to the bank account of Clarence Mills, deceased.

representatives.

As representatives to Yearly Meeting, we appoint: Dollyce Payne, Alice Flitcraft, Lucretia Franklin, Fred Baynes, Ralph Oesting, Brooks Baynes, Turner Mills, and Arthur Wilson.

Jeannette F. Stetson explained the history and work of American Friends Service, introducing many unpublished personals.

Summer
Camp

Lucretia S. Franklin outlined the proposed features of the Summer Camp which the Advancement Committee has planned for a week the coming summer.

The Seventh Query is read

Appreciation of the life of Foster Heacock called into being a committee of one who is requested to present a few paragraphs for minuting as a memorial. Helen Brooks is named for this service.

Memo — Jeannette F. Stetson, Lucretia S. Franklin, Laura W. Smith, Edna Wilson Wolf, and Albert T. Mills arrived at Elwood and Helen Brooks on Mulberry Street mid afternoon. Lucretia had driven from Decatur that day, and Jeannette from French Lick where she had made one of her many stops in the interest of American Friends' Service. At Elwood's assembled the Friendly community for supper at 6:30. At about 8, the party drove to Highland Meeting house. A heavy rain and wind storm broke. This detained many and belated the meeting's opening. Trees went down and Salem was in Darkness. The meeting was held in good order and lightness of spirit. The Sunday School and picnic dinner had quality characteristics of Blue River. Two meetings for worship were held. A Mr. Smith of the Salem weekly brought a message for the afternoon meeting. Sunday the air was fresh and cooler.
