Memoranda

A light first snow had fallen. Skies were leaden. But “the best quarterly meeting I ever attended” said one who has attended many. During the meeting for worship Seventh day reference was made to the 100 anniversary of the founding of the local meeting. And messages told how much may come from even the consecratic effort one or two. Paul Reid with great clarity at the evening meeting explained the many-sided problem that is rightly Friends’ to solve. He led the men’s class Sunday when it was emphasized that we should write Harriet Elliot, Consumer’s Division, D.C. if interested in preventing unwise buying. During the meeting for worship five men spoke. The place of Science and the place of God ran thru nearly all of the messages. Both supper and dinner were served at the meeting house. The stove did pretty well.
