

Following a period of worship when two messages were heard, Blue River Quarterly Meeting opened its session for business about 2 P.M. in the Library at 57th Street.

Several members of Chicago Quarterly Meeting joined us.

Reports show representatives appointed as follows:

Apptmts 57 th St.	Clement and Luella Flitcraft Karl and Helen Klein Alfred Cope	(Present (Not present, (Present a part of the time)
Apptmts Clear Creek	Mary Margaret Smith James Bumgarner Clarence Mills Turner and Kathryn Mills	(Present) (Present) (Present) (Not present)

The Clear Creek meeting reports a conference with its congressman, and address by Frederick J. Libby, and a prospective visit of Foster and Margaretta Heacock.

Nominating Committee A committee to nominate clerks consists of Humphrey Baynes, Lucretia Franklin, and Luella Flitcraft.

Shall Blue River Sit with Chicago A committee to consider dividing time with Chicago Quarterly meeting next year, so that both groups may enjoy the fellowship of both consists of Martha R. Mills, Clarence Mills, Clement B. Flitcraft, Marjorie Allee, and Elwood Brooks.

The meeting is informed that two manuscript minute books of Benjaminville Preparative Meeting have been sold to the Library of the University of Illinois. One is said to be the book of Women Friends from 12-23-1861 to 3-2-1882; the other for Men Friends from 1-28-1862 to 9-7-1879. The sale followed an advertisement of Dale Putnam, a book dealer of Bloomington, Illinois. Information about the advertisement reached the clerk indirectly from Thomas E. Drake, Curator of Quaker Collections, Haverford College. Arthur Benjamin of Bloomington, investigating, learned that the books have gone to Urbana at the cost price of $15.

With the thought that these records possibly belong to Illinois Yearly Meeting, the clerk is directed to correspond with the Librarian of the University of Illinois to ascertain what may be done. It is well, we think, that all of our records should be kept together.

The Meeting is informed that the Mid-West Institute will be held next summer at Naperville instead of Evanston, Illinois, and housed by Northwestern College. Ruth Balderson will move to Naperville to promote the Institute.

A portion of the Sixth Query was read and a half hour spent on the topic Freedom of the Radio. It was urged that in the interest of freedom of speech, owners of broadcasting systems should be freed from legal liability and that such liability should be limited to those who deliver messages over the air.

At three o'clock, we conclude to meet with Highland Creek Friends next sixth month.

Alice B. Flitcraft, Asst. Clerk.
Albert T. Mills, Clerk

Notes. Blue River joined Chicago Qtly Meeting from 3– to 6 p.m. in their sessions; we ate with them in Woolman Hall, and listened to an informing speaker on Character Education. The weather thru the week end was pleasant. Charles Whitney addressed the Sunday Forum on the 1937 Farmer. There were five messages in the meeting for worship, four of these from women.
